A MESSAGE FROM ACTIVITIES

Hello everyone and Happy September!

We have so much happening this month and that makes us so happy! We had a BLAST last month at our Adventure Awaits dance and so many of you asked for another dance party. Well, we heard ya loud and clear and are holding our “Worked Hard...Playin’ Harder” dance in honor of Labor Day. Fat Willy’s will be on hand grilling hamburgers before the party, so come on out for a burger and a boogie with your friends.

We have a lot of foodie events this month as well to include a pizza party, pie and ice cream day and lunch bunch. Make sure to come to the Activity Office for your tickets or just to say hello! We welcome everyone to join us at coffee & donuts. At Sept 12th coffee we are celebrating all things NFL to kick off a great football season. Make sure to wear your team’s colors, hats, or jersey for coffee that day. We will be overseeding the Golf Course, Dog Park and Softball field on October 3rd. They will reopen on November 1. Thank you so much for your patience during this time.

Have a wonderful September everyone!
Shannon, Debby and Pam

SEPTEMBER 2022

This month, let's talk about Monsoon safety. We have some helpful tips for you when it comes to the rare but rainy season here in Tucson.

#1. Avoid walking in the rain

Well, walking in the rain or jumping into pools of water seems to be fun, especially if you don't get a chance to enjoy this weather too often. However, this increases your chance of getting attacked by a host of bacteria, which can result in a number of viral diseases.

#2. Equip yourself with an umbrella or a raincoat

If a weather forecast says the chance of precipitation is 50% or above, then you should keep an umbrella and a raincoat handy to battle the rains this monsoon. This is one of the best safety precautions during rainy season that not only helps keep you from falling sick but also saves your belongings from getting wet.

#3. Never touch electric wires

One of the most important safety tips for the rainy season is to stay away from live electric wires, especially the ones that have fallen off. They can cause injury or even death.

If you see these wires lying in a puddle of water, keep away from it as far as possible as you can possibly be electrocuted as wandering the area.

#4. Drive slowly and carefully

No doubt, driving during the monsoon season is challenging even to experienced drivers. Given the fact that wet runways can be slippery, you should keep a safe distance with the car in front of you. One of the most important safety precautions during rainy season is avoid making any sudden turns and abrupt braking as well.

While driving into the rain, you also need to stay away from heavy vehicles and turn on your headlights so that your car is visible.

#5. Prepare an emergency kit

Despite accurate weather forecasts, we can always predict natural disasters before time. Therefore, one of the most recommended safety precautions during rainy season is to prepare well for the worst, especially if you're living in an area that is prone to flooding. Preparing your emergency kit, which includes clean water, mosquito repellent creams, medicines, battery-backed emergency lights, extra sets of clothes, and socks.

#6. Check weather online

Last but not least, keeping a tab on the weather forecast helps you prepare well for bad weather that is likely to approach. Of course, we can neither control the weather nor fight it, but we at least have some early indications of whether it'll be sunny or it'll start pouring like crazy.
